RUSH — TIME DATED

TODAY & TOMORROW

The second annual Edmund W. Overstreet Lectureship/Musicale will be held on Thursday, November 15, at 3:30 p.m. at the Hyatt Regency, SF. Gilbert S. Gordan, MD, UCSF professor of internal medicine, will deliver the lecture "Estrogen Replacement: Then and Now."

The Overstreet Musicale will follow the lecture at 4:30 p.m. with a performance by harpist Michael Rado.

Sponsored by the Department of Ob/Gyn and Reproductive Sciences, the lectureship is part of a three-day symposium entitled "Advances in Obstetrics, Gynecologic Endocrinology and Surgery," which is designed for clinicians involved in the health care of women.

Overstreet was an internationally known obstetrician/gynecologist and a member of the UCSF faculty from 1946 to his retirement in 1971. He died in 1983. Some of Overstreet's contributions include the advocacy of women's rights to control their fertility, and the advancement of knowledge in infertility, menopause and surgical techniques.

For symposium registration information call x2564.

The following items are available for sale to the campus community and the general public:

State legislation has been passed which allows the University to return to a reduced UCRS member contribution rate. The reduced rate is effective July 1, 1984 and will be prorated from October 1984 through June 1985. Checks for October earnings will reflect this reduced employee rate.

Principal investigators are reminded that effective July 1, 1985 all UC projects conducted at SFGH will be considered on-campus. Therefore, all on-campus indirect cost rates will be applied to all SFGH contracts and grants. The on-campus rates should be used in all proposals being submitted that have an anticipated start date of July 1. For further information call x2977.

The Program for Analytical Cytology has funds available to support research projects between collaborating investigators at UCSF and the Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory. Sponsored by the UC Regents, the program is to promote collaborative projects between UCSF and LLNL in analytical cytology, cell analysis and cytometry.

Project proposals are reviewed for scientific merit and can lead to long-term research with its own funding. Program awards usually do not exceed $5,000.

Interested investigators should contact Brian H. Mayall, MD, Room L 518, or call x5734 or (415) 422-5672. Application deadline is November 30.

United Way Campaign. . . Show you care

UCSF deans and senior administrators have joined Chancellor Krevans in pledging their support in advance of this year's United Way campaign, which will run for two weeks—Monday, October 29, to Friday, November 9.

In a letter to the campus community Chancellor Krevans said that he hoped everyone working at UCSF will participate and give or pledge something. Every dollar counts. "If you can't give $50, give $5. If you can't give $5, give $1. But show you care. If we all do this, UCSF participation could be 100%. By contributing to United Way through UCSF we will have done something worthwhile for people who need help in our communities."

Last year's UCSF United Way campaign raised nearly $117,000 with 31% participation from staff and faculty. That represented a $47,000 and 200% participation increase over the previous year.

Donor representatives for each department and division on campus will be handing out envelopes to each employee during the two campaign weeks, asking for their participation.

During the campaign, employees can make a lump-sum contribution or authorize monthly deductions from paychecks to United Way. Employees may designate their contribution to any one of the 242 United Way Agencies; or through the donor option plan to any health or human care service agency in California that has tax exempt status. This includes such campus-related programs as the UCSF Child Care/Study Center or the Koret Family House.

Tickets are available for the Brain Tumor Research Center Benefit to be held Wednesday evening, December 5, in conjunction with the grand opening of the new Ramada Renaissance Hotel, located on the newly-named Cyril Magnin St., just above Market and Fifth Streets, SF.

The gala, entitled "Celebrate Cyril," will honor the well-known San Francisco civic leader and philanthropist Cyril Magnin, and is expected to draw over 1,000 guests, including stage and screen celebrities from around the country. Entertainment will be provided by the Ernie Heckscher Orchestra, the Peter Mintun Trio, Turk Murphy and His San Francisco Jazz Band, pianist Bob Moonan and the Royal Society Jazz Band.

Honorary chair for the event is Mayor Dianne Feinstein, with opera star Beverly Sills and Pacific Telesis Vice President Arthur C. Latno, Jr. serving as co-chairs. Steve Silver, creator of the "Beach Blanket Babylon" revue, is coordinating the special effects.

That evening a grand door prize of a trip for two to Geneva, Switzerland will be given away.

Tickets at $150 each are available by calling Madlyn Day at (415) 433-7940.

The entire month of November is "open enrollment"—the only time during the year when University of California employees can make changes or enroll in certain health care and insurance plans.

Changes that can be made during open enrollment month are:

- Tax Savings Plans—If you have never filed a form to withdraw from all or part of the Insurance Tax-Savings Plan, you are automatically enrolled. During open enrollment, you may withdraw from the Tax-Savings Plan entirely for the 1985 tax year and withdraw short-term disability and/or life insurance. Or you may reenter the Tax-Savings Plan for 1985 if you withdrew in 1984. You may not withdraw from the Tax-Savings Plan for UCRS.
- Dental Plans—You may transfer from

In response to numerous requests for information, Chancellor Krevans has sent to members of the campus community and all California alumni information on state propositions 36 and 41. The two propositions are of particular interest because of their potential impact on UC and UCSF. His covering memo stated in part:

- "As you may know, the Regents of the University of California recently took an unprecedented step in going on record to oppose Proposition 36, the new Jarvis initiative, on the basis that the measure could call into question the University's ability to set fees and charges, would make it impossible for UC to sell revenue bonds, and could be interpreted as giving the State Legislature, rather than the Regents, the authority to manage the University of California's financial affairs.
- "Proposition 41, 'Public Aid and Medical Assistance,' would limit expenditures of federal, state and county funds that could be spent in California on Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), California Medical Assistance (MediCal), and Family Planning. This measure could have adverse consequences on our ability to continue to provide quality comprehensive care to indigent patients served by the University as well as on the financial integrity of our hospitals."

In addition, student leaders Louise M. Bourassa (GSA) and Philip Shields (ASUC) have written their own letter on the two propositions to all UCSF students, based on information gained from the UC student lobby in Sacramento.

The Puppet Therapy Program has openings for volunteers who enjoy working with children. Volunteers are trained as puppeteers who put on informal shows designed to familiarize pediatric patients with hospital procedures and treatment, thereby relieving their fears and anxiety. Puppeteers use hand puppets and miniature hospital equipment in their shows and meet with each child on a one-to-one basis.

The current need is for volunteers who can work two-and-one-half hours a week during the mornings or afternoons for at least one year. Volunteers must be at least 18 years old; previous experience with children or in the health field is desirable. All volunteers must complete an orientation and training program. For further information call program codirector Pat Stich at x2538.

UCSF has received $2.3 million from the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute as part of a multicentered prospective study on association of blood product use with immune function changes: relation to acquired immune deficiency (AIDS).

This five-year program, which began in October, is part of a $23 million contract awarded to the University of Southern California.

The study at UCSF is based in the Department of Laboratory Medicine under the direction of professor Girish Vyas, director of the Blood Bank. Other UCSF faculty engaged in the study are Conrad Casavant, Marion Koerper, Herbert Perkins, who also is scientific director of Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, Daniel Stites and Pearl Toy.

Bert O'Malley, chair of the Department of Cell Biology at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, will deliver the ninth Herbert McLean Evans Memorial Lecture on Wednesday, November 28, at 2 p.m. in Cole Hall.

Director of the Baylor Center for Population Research and Reproductive Biology, O'Malley will discuss "Molecular Actions of Steroid Hormones in Reproductive Target Tissues."

O'Malley is one of the world's foremost investigators of the molecular mechanisms of steroid hormone action, including the role of hormone receptors, the control of gene function, and the synthesis of nucleic acids and specific proteins. He is the recipient of the Ernst Oppenheimer Award of the Endocrine Society, the Gregory Pincus Memorial Medal and the Distinguished Achievement in Modern Medicine Award. He is the current president of the American Endocrine Society.

The lecture is sponsored by the Department of Anatomy in honor of the late distinguished UCSF and UC-Berkeley biologist Herbert McLean Evans, former chair of the department.

Michael S. Brown, MD, the Paul J. Thomas Professor of Genetics at the University of Texas Health Sciences Center at Dallas, will present the Leslie L. Bennett Lecture entitled "Towards a Molecular Understanding of Cholesterol Metabolism," on Thursday, November 1, at 3 p.m. in Cole Hall.

Internationally known for his contributions to cell biology and the study of cholesterol metabolism in health and disease, Brown discovered that cholesterol receptors are defective in certain patients with elevated cholesterol.

The lectureship honors Leslie L. Bennett, academic vice chancellor emeritus and professor emeritus of physiology, and is an annual event organized by his colleagues and students in the Department of Physiology.

A winner of the UCSF Medal in 1978 for his lifetime of service to the school, Bennett has been a teacher for some 40 years to countless scientists and physicians. He served as chair of the department and is well known for his research on hormonal mechanisms and the control of the cardiovascular system.

As a new service to the campus, the "UCSF TV News Update" has begun to list academic vacancies Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings from 7 to 11 a.m. School of Medicine academic vacancies are listed on the Monday morning show, School of Dentistry on Tuesday, and the schools of Nursing and Pharmacy on Wednesday.

In a special ceremony on Thursday, October 25, the SFGH Trauma Center was renamed "The Mary Martin Trauma Center," in honor of the actress who was a patient there for 10 days in 1982 after the taxi she was riding in was hit by a car. Martin recently held a benefit at Davies Symphony Hall for the SFGH Trauma Foundation, in which a host of friends joined her for song and dance.

D. Walter Cohen, DDS, has been appointed to fill the newly-established UCSF Presidential Chair. Cohen will be in the School of Dentistry from October 1984 to March 1985.

A Presidential Chair was established on each of the UC campuses earlier this year, allowing outstanding scholars to visit and lecture faculty and students. Future UCSF Presidential Chairs will be rotated among the four schools.

A scholar of international reputation, Cohen has published numerous papers on periodontal disease and oral medicine. He is a diplomate of the American Board of Periodontology and has served as chair of the American Board of Periodontics. He was dean of the School of Dentistry at the University of Pennsylvania from 1972 to 1983.

While on campus, Cohen will conduct periodontal research and give several lectures on periodontology, including a Dean's Seminar to be held at a later date.
